

Biography of Eve Levy

Eve is originally from Canada, born and bread in Montreal, then lived in Calgary, Alberta, for a few magical years where her family, thank G-d, reconnected to their Judaism. Once Eve's family was committed to a Torah-observant life, they moved to Toronto for the vibrant Jewish community. Upon graduating from high school in Toronto, Eve went on to Israel to deepen her Jewish studies and received her degree in psychology and Jewish education from Touro College. Eve lived in Israel for over a decade where she studied and taught in various seminaries. Eve met her South-African husband in Israel who was studying to become a Rabbi and a mohel. Eve and her husband completed the Ner Le'Elef program in Jerusalem where fuel was added to their already existent fire of love and passion towards their fellow jews. As a granddaughter of Holocaust survivors, Eve always felt compelled to make a huge difference in the Jewish World.

Eve currently lives in Portland, Oregon, with her husband Gadi and her six children. She works as the woman's program coordinator for the Portland Kollel and is the director of Shine, and organization to inspire Jewish women. She has led a dozen JWRP missions to Israel and has created a powerful trip called the Poland Israel Journey for women. Her husband is the Rabbi of the Sephardic synagogue in Oregon and she enjoys supporting him as the Rebbetzin of the community. Her most favorite work of all is serving as a mikvah attendant and educator.
